SHOOT COURSE IN CAMOUFLAGE—Ash Hoffman, nine, tells how "my" played hockey all winter with a Toronto, Canada, junior team until a birth certificate check showed that "Ash" is short for "Amogul", not for "Amog". Travelling interest is displayed by Hoffman, enthusiastic Junior Varsity forward at a St. Catharines, Ontario, team. The peppy little player much prefers the role of a boy, dodging that girls' dress in "Kupid".

PILOTED BRITISH JET AT 1,100 M.P.H.—Peter Twiss, test pilot for the Fawcett Company, and World War II ace with the Royal Air Force, was the pilot who flew the British P-109 Delta 2 jet plane in a record quick climb to 10,000 ft. recently to designate the world speed record from the U.S. The flight was made over a nine-mile course in England.

SUCCESSOR TO ARCHBISHOP—Successor to departed Archbishop, Maronite of Cyprus, is Bishop Poulos who marked second birthday Makarios in the Cyprus church hierarchy. The first act of Poulos after assuming his new task was to confer protocols with the episcopate to the United Nations and the Archbishop of Canterbury. Poulos is shown beneath a religious painting in his palace in Cyprus.

'AWOL' guard heads an army

This top soldier, right, wearing uniform of a sergeant in the British Army, forms the nucleus of a $25,000 army of the ages owned by Russell Patterson, 28, below. Patterson found the for, "AWOL", from some child's playthings, in view of his San Francisco home 14 years ago. It inspired him to begin collecting detailed miniature of troops of all nations. His army now numbers upward of 20,000 troops and has "invaded" two whole rooms of his home. Revolution of soldiering is represented in his collection by everything from human of the Middle Ages to a preview of space soldiers of the future. He shows boys several sets of particular favorites in order to build units of his army to last through.

FIRE DESTROYED TWO PLANES—Two planes, a four-engined North Star and a giant C-47 Flying Fortress were destroyed in a spectacular air show in the Big Apple. The planes were damaged and two office buildings at Dorval, First brigade at the same said. There was nothing we could do except try to stop the flames from spreading in other buildings nearby.

HAPPY—Bert Olmstead, left, and Jean Beliveau had much to be happy about after Canadians watched Chicago 5-2 at the Forum. Bert tied a league record for assists when he got No. 55 against Hawks, while Big Jean set a few goal scoring record for center, when he tallied his 45th of the season.

EASTER SPECTACULAR—This huge display piece, with Lenten-er's de Vire's picture of The Last Supper as its inspiration, is representative of elaborate window displays fashioned by confectioners of Rome, Italy, for showing during the Easter season. Months of work went into fashioning the figure of Christ and the disciples in multi-colored sugar. Chocolate crosses adorn the high candy bag, and as a mount for the confection.

JUST LIKE OLD TIMES—Chatbot of the general store post office makes a halfway comeback with installation of this stamp vending machine at the Federal Building Post Office in Detroit, Mich. When money is deposited, one daily number and denomination of stamps required. Out come the stamps and a polite, tape-recorded "thank you." Seasonal messages, such as "mail early for Christmas," may also be recorded from time to time as a reminder to customers.

FORMER FIRST LADY OF THE U.S.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson reflects her pleasure as she tours a Library of Congress exhibit in Washington, marking the centennial year of the birth of her husband, the 28th U.S. President. At her side is J. Quincy Mumford, Librarian of Congress. The exhibition, containing some 200 items from the Library's collection of Wilson papers, presents a biographical picture of the former Chief Executive.

AVRO VULCAN—Here is a model of the Avro Vulcan delta winged jet bomber installed in the low wing at R. V. Park's Museum. Details have been released of an "unprecedented torture test" on the bomber to show its strength. For ten years a Vulcan has been undergoing stress and testing far greater than it could experience in the air. To make the test rig, 100 concrete jacks were sunk 20 feet into the ground. Twenty-two hydraulic jacks were hooked into the wings of the bomber. Each could apply 100,000 lbs. line load, far in excess of normal requirements.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK--

That merchandise that can stand persistent advertising makes an appeal which brings customers back time and time again.

Trustful advertising gives the public confidence—confidence in the merchandise and the sources that sell it.

Persistent advertising gains friends for a business. It proves that the advertiser has the right merchandise at the right price.

Well Advertised Merchandise Is Superior In Every Way

Good advertising not only makes new customers, but encourages old customers to buy more.

Quality, persistently advertised, creates a desire that only possession satisfies.

THE ONLY WAY TO GET BUSINESS IS TO GO AFTER IT BY ADVERTISING. GETTING BUSINESS BY ADVERTISING IS EASY, CHEAP, AND SURE.

In recent weeks the group has been making studies in collaboration with the Alberta Liquor Control Board. When public hearings are concluded and the investigation is complete, a report with recommendations will be prepared for submission to the government for Legislative Action.

Rotational Grazing

Lethbridge Experimental Station Weekly Letter

D. B. WILSON—Pasture investigations Much has been said about the high economic returns possible from irrigated pastures, but the importance of good management needs to be stressed. Many phases of management can make the difference between a mediocre and a highly successful operation. One of the more important requirements for success is provision for rotational grazing. Rotational grazing means that the animals are allowed to graze a small area for a short time, and are then moved to fresh pasture. The grazed area can then gain required treatment, which might include mowing, harrowing and fertilizing, then irrigated and left to recover.

Under continuous grazing the animals are given access to the entire pasture for the whole season and there is a tendency for them to avoid the tall grass while more contentedly grazing the shorter, more succulent and green. A recent test at the Lethbridge Experimental Farm provided information that illustrates the depressing effect that continuous close grazing may have on the yield of grass. In this test, some areas were clipped back to 1 1/2 inches and time growth reached a height of 4 inches, while others were clipped back to 2 inches each time growth reached the height of 4 inches, while others were clipped back to 3 inches each time growth reached 10 inches. The short clipping could be moved over to be comparable to the effect of continuous, close grazing, and the higher clipping to rotational grazing. The test run for 5 months and by the end of the period the plants clipped to 1 1/2 inches had yielded only one-third as much as those clipped to 3 inches. The root systems of the plant under the 3-inch clipping was strong and extensive, and able to withstand adverse growing conditions and weed encroachment. Short clipping resulted in plants with weak, poorly developed root systems.

A minimum of four rotation fields is recommended, but one further subdivision will be profitable. With four fields, one week is allowed for grazing and 3 weeks for irrigation and regrowth. Excellent growth should be harvested for six or eight weeks.

Track mileage of Canadian railroads at the end of 1953 totaled 28,694.
